Vote Today No Fender Flaps Technical Visitor

Just remember—Don't go home this evening before you have voted.

This is School Election Day, and if you can't find time to vote you automatically disqualify yourself from talking out loud about schools, taxes, and whatever.

The turnout is light as I write this just before noon today—help make it a big vote by tonight. The polls close at 7:30.

From time to time, as you recall, your editor has collided with the State Highway Department because of what we consider to be bad public policy creating one of the worst auto windshield breakage records in the nation.

The state contends windshield breakage is usually caused by following too closely a loaded gravel truck.

Your editor's contention, based on personal and others' experience, is that most windshields are broken by gravel flying off an oncoming truck—and an overloaded truck at that.

But this morning I discovered a beaut!

I came up behind an Arkansas Highway Department gravel-hauling truck just east of Hope and U.S. 67 and discovered it had no rear fender flaps. The state requires all privately-owned trucks to be equipped with fender flaps—but its own trucks are above the law!

I'd like an acknowledgment from AHD on this one, if you please.

The cycle of events around a manufacturing plant like a newspaper never fails to follow this pattern:

You install new equipment one year—and the next year you entertain factory experts because of some foulup in the new machines.

We have with us today Joseph J. Girgenti of Washington, D.C., field service man for the regional office of the Compugraphic Corp. at Atlanta, Ga.

As you know, everything you read in the news text of The Star is composed on two Compugraphic photo-typesetters we installed in June 1970. If you guessed one of them is ailing, you are correct.

Nothing serious. On the other hand, anything about a computerized machine in a newspaper shop is potentially serious. We have a deadline on the press every day between 2:30 and 3 p.m.

So by the time Mr. Girgenti gets through here we'll be back on a two-machine basis—and the emergency will be over.

Claims He Was Set Up by Client

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — A letter written by Lee Ward, a Jonesboro attorney who is on trial in U.S. District Court here on a charge of allegedly concealing $1,400 with the intent to defeat the federal bankruptcy laws, said he had been "set up" by his client.

Ward was attorney for Mrs. Nina Pauline Black, owner of a dress shop, who was declared bankrupt in February of 1969. The letter was introduced as evidence in the trial Monday.

The government contends that Ward "willfully and fraudulently kept the money to himself." Ward contends he turned the $1,400 in question over to Mrs. Black but failed to get a receipt for the money.

The defense contends that Mrs. Black spent the money to cover a loan she obtained from a Jonesboro bank. Mrs. Black testified Monday she never received the money from Ward.

4 Americans Freed by Turk Kidnapers

By NICK LUDINGTON
Associated Press Writer
ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkish police said today they are closing in on the leftist kidnapers of four U.S. airmen who were freed Monday night after five days in captivity.

No ransom was paid to the terrorists of the so-called Turkish People's Liberation Army despite their threat to shoot the Americans if $400,000 was not handed over by last Saturday morning. Both the U.S. and Turkish governments refused to bargain.

Interior Minister Haldun Mentesoglu said a police dragnet was "on the kidnapers' trail." Hundreds of uniformed and plainclothes police were seen combing a high-rent residential district near the capital's Embassy Row.

Turkish officials said the kidnapers telephoned acquaintances several times Monday trying to get the captives off.

Cigarette Tax Fails, Recall Likely

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers' bill to increase the cigarette tax by five cents a package was defeated Monday in the Arkansas House by a margin that may have caught the administration by surprise.

The bill failed 58-32 — which is 17 votes short of the three-fourths majority required for passage — in what was considered a test vote to show the administration where its support, or lack of it, lay.

Administration sources were saying last week that they thought the bill had 60 to 65 supporters at that time. Bumpers aides also expressed confidence before the vote Monday that the measure would pass, although perhaps not on the first try.

The bill is the House version of the cigarette tax increase. It remained alive temporarily after Monday's defeat when Rep. Cecil Alexander of Heber Springs gave notice that he might seek reconsideration.

The version of the measure passed by the Senate last week.

Youth Held in Shooting

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Police are holding an El Dorado youth in connection with the fatal shooting of Darrell Clifton Carey, 15, of El Dorado.

Carey died Monday in an El Dorado hospital of gunshot wounds received Sunday night during an argument with another youth. He was shot once in the stomach with a .410-gauge shotgun.

Light Vote; Polls Open to 7:30 p.m.

Voting in the annual school election Tuesday was very slim a check of precincts at noon today revealed.

However, it should pick up during the afternoon and as the polls don't close until 7:30 p.m. many voters wait until they get off from work to cast their ballots.

The big issue in Hope District 1-A is a 10 mill tax increase from 40 to 50 mills. Also on the ticket is one contested board position. For Post No. 2 Incumbent Dr. Jud Martindale is opposed by James T. Rowland of Fulton.

Here is where Hope voters cast their ballots:

Box 1-A-Hope Fire Station.
Box 1-B and 1-C, Rocky Mound and Shover Springs at James Motor Co.

Ward 3-Box 5 and Cross Roads at Hope City Hall.

Box 4-A and 4-B at Hope Youth Center.

Box 2-A and 2-B and Guernsey at little courtroom at the Courthouse.

Box 1-D and Box 6 at Jones Field House.

Tanker Rocked by Mysterious Explosion

LONDON (AP) — Flames touched off by a mysterious explosion ravaged the 113,370-ton tanker Ocean Bridge off the west coast of Spain today.

"The last we heard," said a spokesman for the owner, "the Ocean Bridge was still on fire and she was down by the stern."

The tanker was reported empty so apparently there was no threat of major pollution.

The explosion occurred in the pump room of the Ocean Bridge as the big ship was standing by to aid another stricken tanker, the 36,903-ton British Comet. The Comet, which had called for help after a leak flooded her engine room, picked up 49 of the 50 crewmen of the Ocean Bridge.

South Vietnam Thrust Into Laos Has Set Back Hanoi, Officials Say

By GEORGE ESPEY
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese thrust into Laos has already set Hanoi's war in Vietnam and Cambodia back five months, according to the latest official assessment of the U.S. Command. And by the time the campaign is over, the command thinks, it could buy more than a year's time for the Vietnamization program.

"Each day the South Vietnamese stall the North Vietnamese in Laos, they gain five days time in South Vietnam," a high-ranking U.S. military official said today.

"Every day they remain in Laos, it is advantageous to the Vietnamization process. It gives the Vietnamese time to build up their training. Time is on the side of the Vietnamese."

Sporadic fighting continued in the month-old drive across the Ho Chi Minh trail. Saigon's forces are now stretched along 26 miles of east-west Highway 9 from the Vietnamese border to the hills around the transshipment point of Sepone and for nearly 26 miles southeast of Sepone to Muong Nong.

Legislator Gives a Report on Activities of General Assembly

By MACK McLARTY,
State Representative
Hempstead County

Last week your Representative came forth with a very firm prediction—that Governor Bumpers' amended income tax proposal would pass the House and Senate. We have always been aware that political prognosticating is a very dangerous habit.

On Monday the tax increase was rejected and your Representative wondered how we would explain that in this column. On Tuesday it was passed. Previous columns have explained our support for the measure as being the mildest form of revenue increase and the most equitable for the majority of Arkansans.

In previous columns we mentioned that there would be a discussion of bills introduced by your Representative. I report these bills not as a personal pat on the back but because any legislation sponsored by me is a direct reflection—good or bad—upon all the citizens of Hempstead County.

For this reason I pledge that as long as I serve you in the legislative body you will always be entitled to the full details of all McLarty sponsored bills.

Solid Waste Disposal

House Bills 511 and 512 by your Representative and Rep. Sparks of Fordyce were bills commonly known as the "solid waste disposal bills." It is not the intent of this column to bury you under a mountain of statistics.

Simply explained, these bills would require cities and counties to develop systems for managing solid wastes such as tin cans, trash, bottles . . . etc. The companion bill would authorize cities to issue revenue bonds for solid waste treatment

Man Charged With Burglary at Washington

Hollis Rowe, 52, has been charged with burglary and grand larceny in connection with the Sunday burglary of the House of Bottles at Washington in which some $390.15 worth of merchandise was taken.

Sheriff Henry Sinyard said entrance was gained through the front door by shooting off the lock. Many valuable bottles were destroyed. Those taken in the burglary were recovered, the Sheriff said. Aiding in the investigation were Deputies Howard Milam and Freddie McCulley.

that a day's full load of war materials and other supplies moved down the Ho Chi Minh trail enables North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in the field to operate for 10 days.

"By knocking off half that load," said the U.S. official, "the North Vietnamese troops south of Highway 9 are only getting half a load or five days' supplies."

The South Vietnamese have been in Laos 30 days. By the U.S. Command's reckoning, therefore, Hanoi has been set back 150 days, or five months. From all indications, the South Vietnamese plan to stay in Laos until about May 1, or for 53 days more. This would mean another nine months gained for Vietnamization, according to the command's assessment.

"This means more time to do a job of training the Vietnamese," said the source. "The Laotian drive will give the Vietnamese forces a better idea of how they can handle things. It will give them more experience, more confidence, make them more battle hardened so they can better handle the job."

Ford Report Lashed by Officials

By G.C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has embraced a Ford Foundation report contending students are right when they say colleges are irrelevant.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliot L. Richardson called the report "provocative, controversial and innovative and as significant a statement on higher education as we have seen."

Recent reforms in curriculum and governing powers have left untouched a major problem of isolation, forced conformity and rigidity in higher education, the report found.

Haven's some students been saying the same things about their colleges? "There is a very substantial core of validity in their anger," said Richardson whose predecessor, Robert Finch, suggested the report.

The Ford group headed by Frank Newman, associate director of university relations at Stanford University, suggested the root problem for all higher education is the university and

Few Showers Expected in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A few showers and thunderstorms are expected by late tonight over the eastern half of Arkansas.

The shower activity may begin a little earlier in the western portion of the state.

Highs today were expected to be in the mid 60s, but slightly cooler readings are forecast for Wednesday. Highs Wednesday should be in the mid 40s to mid 50s.

A warm front, located from Fort Smith southeast to El Dorado this morning, is expected to push northward across the state triggering winds with gusts of up to 30 miles an hour.

Temperatures this morning were 10 to 15 degrees warmer in the western section of the state than in the eastern section. During the night, temperatures dipped into the low 30s in the central and southeastern sections of the state.

Overnight lows include Fayetteville 31, Harrison 32, Jonesboro 31, Pine Bluff 31, Texarkana 45, El Dorado 32, Memphis 32, Little Rock 30 and Fort Smith 35.

No rainfall was reported during the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m.

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP) — Minnie Mullins, 67, of near Alicia (Lawrence County) was killed Monday when the pickup truck she was driving collided with a Frisco freight train at a crossing on U.S. 67 at Hoxie.

Officials said she was alone in the truck.

Laird Offers Strategy to Deter War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird today blueprinted a "strategy of realistic deterrence" to war by marshaling total free-world military power and promoting vigorous negotiations from strength.

Laird's annual defense report to Congress was heavy on philosophy and light on major new programs.

The Pentagon chief proposed leveling off U.S. armed forces at 2.5 million men—about 1 million below the Vietnam war peak—and holding down defense spending.

Laird said some risk is attached to the Nixon administration's $76-billion defense budget for fiscal 1972 "for it continues the downward trend in over-all Defense Department purchasing power at a time when the threats we face around the world continue to increase, not diminish."

Laird presented the new report as the first comprehensive five-year defense program of the Nixon administration, although the specifics dealt chiefly with the budget year ahead.

Nixon Plan Limits Arms Expansion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration proposed today a limited expansion of the Safeguard antimissile system "to enhance the chances" for an arms control agreement with the Soviet Union.

The administration asked Congress to authorize work this year on a fourth ABM site at either Warren Air Force Base in Wyoming or around the nation's capital, with the choice left to the President.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said this would provide President Nixon with necessary flexibility pending the outcome of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks.

"Until it becomes clear that an agreement adequately constraining the Soviet threat to our retaliatory forces is attainable, the program will proceed in a timely and orderly manner," Laird told Congress in presenting the administration's annual defense report.

By limiting expansion this year to either the Wyoming site or Washington, he said, President Nixon will have the option of continuing work toward defending the Minuteman force or protecting the capital as outlined in one SALT proposal.

Laird's report noted "an unexplained slowdown in deployment" of Russia's big SS9 offensive missiles, but made no reference to a new missile was accounted for in finalizing this year's Safeguard plan.

The State Department said Monday the new Russian missile, first reported Sunday, would be a factor in the SALT talks which resume in Vietnam next week.

In addition to work at a fourth ABM site, the $1.278 billion sought for Safeguard this year would also provide for further work at Grand Forks, N.D., and Malmstrom, Mont., Air Force bases, for which deployment was authorized two years ago, and for start of construction at Whiteman AFB, Mo., which was approved last year.

Deployment at these sites and Warren AFB, for which only site preparation was authorized last year, is to shield the Minuteman retaliatory missile force from a first strike nuclear attack.

Egypt Hopes U.S. Can Sway Israel

CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian government still hopes the United States will get Israel to withdraw from the territories occupied in the 1967 war, officials in Cairo say.

They say President Anwar Sadat let the Suez Canal cease-fire expire to keep his options open in case diplomacy fails, but a resumption of shooting in the near future is not being considered.

"We are still hoping the United States will get Israel to undertake a commitment to withdraw from occupied territory," said an official at the Foreign Ministry. "For the time being we are waiting."

Al Ahram, Cairo's semi-official newspaper, revealed today that Sadat and President Nixon have been exchanging messages. The paper gave no details of what was said between the two, but it said the latest message was sent to Nixon last Friday, two days before the Egyptian announced his government was no longer bound by the cease-fire the United States had sponsored.

Sadat in his broadcast announcement also revealed he paid a secret visit to Moscow early last week and said he obtained the Soviet government's complete support for his refusal to continue the cease-fire.

Egyptian officials said the Soviets are giving full support to Egypt's diplomatic campaign to move the Israelis back. But they said Sadat's words implied full Soviet support if hostilities resume.

Egyptian officials feel that Cairo has made a number of significant concessions during the past month. They consider its chief conciliatory move a commitment to sign a peace agreement with the Jewish state if Israel will leave the occupied Arab land.

"Now the question has been narrowed down to one of territory," said an official. "It is a question of whether or not they intend to get out of our land."

"The Israelis are mistaken if they think we will make further concessions. Withdrawal from our territory is our bedrock demand, and on this we will not budge."

He said the United States knows this Egyptian position and was told in advance what Sadat would say on Sunday.

No Decision on Extension of Legislature

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Select House and Senate committees conferred for about 10 minutes Monday without making a decision on whether to extend the current legislative session and continue work without interruption or take a recess and then come back and finish work.

The two committees will meet again today after getting an assessment from the Joint Budget Committee on the status of appropriation measures and the Revenue and Stabilization Act.

Sen. Max Howell of Little Rock urged a recess of two or three weeks by the legislative bodies to give the Joint Budget Committee time to prepare appropriation proposals for consideration when the legislature would reconvene.

A majority of House members indicated Monday, however, they favored working on without a recess if it appears the legislature can get its work done in an additional week to 10 days.

Suspension Won't Delay Construction

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Highway Director Ward Goodman said Monday that President Nixon's suspension of the Davis-Bacon Act would not delay construction of the Wilbur D. Mills Freeway in Little Rock.

Goodman also said the Highway Department would be able to begin construction of a $59,000 pedestrian overpass over U.S. 65 at Pine Bluff.

The Davis-Bacon Act requires contractors on all federally-financed projects to pay no less than the "prevailing" wage rates for the local area as set by the U.S. Labor Department.

Nixon ordered suspension of the act in an effort to drive down construction costs.

Goodman said the Arkansas projects would not be affected by the suspension because contracts had been awarded prior to Feb. 23, the date of the suspension.

its credential-laden faculty.

"The modern academic university has, like a magnet, drawn all institutions towards its organizational form until today the same teaching method, the same organization by disciplines, and the same professional academic training for faculty are nearly universal," the report said.

"The shortcomings of the academic university as a model for all other institutions have been obscured by the dazzling success of the best-known examples," it continued.

The study recommended new institutions where students of all ages are educated, with any preference going to older ones; where practical experience and not classroom lectures is the primary teaching tool; where professional practitioners have equal faculty footing with academic Ph.D.s and where instruction is offered by television, off campus and in traditional classes.

It advocates decentralization of state college and university systems; formation of regional examining universities whose sole function would be to test and grant degrees; and complete overhaul of professional accreditation agencies to encourage apprenticeship as an alternative to solely academic preparation.

Committee Calls Casey to Testify

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York tax lawyer William J. Casey was called before the Senate Banking Committee again today to answer new questions about his qualifications to head the Securities and Exchange Commission.

At issue were three lawsuits growing out of Casey's wide-ranging business activities as well as his relations with a New York racetrack represented by Casey's law firm.

The committee tentatively approved Casey's nomination by President Nixon to head the SEC at a meeting Feb. 10.

Since then the issues were raised about the law suits and his relations with the racetrack. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., a committee member, asked Casey he called back for today's session.

Before the hearing Casey offered a detailed explanation of the questioned transactions in a letter sent last week to Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., the committee chairman.

Casey said the three lawsuits involved business disagreements which could be expected to arise in his case because he invested in a number of high risk projects with uncertain prospects.

Even lawyers on the other side in these cases, Casey said, advised him they were not making accusations of any personal wrongdoing by Casey.

But Proxmire said that two of the suits involved charges of violations of SEC laws which Casey would have to enforce as head of the commission.

If for no other reason, the senator said, the nominee should be required to give a complete accounting of his role in each case.

Proxmire also said he felt Casey was less than frank when he appeared before the committee in February.

The senator said one new matter had come to his attention even since Casey sent his letter to Sparkman a week ago.

Proxmire said it involved SEC files indicating that a man named Charles J. Thornton whom Casey chose to handle a sale of stock in a company Casey headed had been expelled from the securities industry for stock manipulation.

Casey said later, however, he did not know of Thornton's record when he arranged for him to handle the stock sale.

Rockefeller Would Run

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York says that if President Nixon steps aside in 1972 he may seek the Republican presidential nomination himself.

An interviewer reminded Rockefeller Monday of repeated past assertions that he would support the President for reelection and asked:

Bank Failures Are Laid to Mismanagement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. told Congress today mismanagement is to blame for the rising failure of banks.

In testimony prepared for the House Banking and Currency Committee, Frank Wille said that of the 19 banks which failed in the last 26 months, four were involved in loan or deposit irregularities and the other 15 folded because of "weaknesses in loan portfolio management."

"Losses resulting from improper loans to officers, directors or owners of the closed banks or their affiliated interests were a major cause of failure ...," he said.

"While the granting of these loans was not necessarily illegal," he said, "their overall volume and quality were beyond prudent limits and would not have been extended in a well-managed bank."

Wille said officers of four banks which had loan or deposit irregularities have been indicted and one has been convicted.

In addition, he said, losses on loans to borrowers outside a bank's normal lending area proved to be a significant factor in the failure of seven banks.

In eight other failures, misuse of brokered funds played a large role, Wille said.

In brokered deposits, a money broker arranges for funds to be deposited in the bank on the condition they be loaned out to a specific borrower. The money broker bears no risk if the borrower defaults unless, of course, the bank itself goes broke.

Door Closed on Just War Advocates

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has closed the door on Catholics and others who believe in the "just war" doctrine but evidently not on Muhammad Ali, whose draft appeal is tentatively set for argument next month.

Ali's lawyers will insist the former heavyweight champion's Muslim religion prohibited him not only from fighting in Vietnam but from fighting in any war that did not have Allah's blessing.

This argument, disputed by the Justice Department does not seem imperiled by the 8-1 draft ruling announced by the Court hours before Ali was defeated by Joe Frazier.

The heart of the decision is the findings Congress did not intend to exempt opponents of any one particular war, including the Vietnam war, when it provided conscientious objector status for those "opposed to participation in war in any form."

A "straightforward reading," of the law, said Justice Thurgood Marshall, "can bear out but one meaning: that conscientious scruples relating to war and military service must amount to conscientious opposition to participating personally in any war and all war."

The two men who lost, Guy Gillette of Yonkers, N.Y., a self-described humanist, and Louis A. Negre of Bakersfield, Calif., a Catholic, had asserted the "just war" doctrine and said they could not conscientiously fight in Vietnam.

Gillette, particularly, said he would be willing to participate in a war of national defense or in a U.N. peace-keeping measure.

Significantly the ruling did not upset a 1955 decision that a Jehovah's Witness was entitled to C.O. status even though he was not opposed to participation in a "theocratic war" commanded by Jehovah. Since he opposed fighting in secular wars the court said he was a legitimate conscientious objector.

Ali's appeal rests heavily on that decision.

The position the Justice Department will take has not completely crystallized. Undoubtedly the government lawyers will try to convince the court there is ample evidence in the record to conclude Ali objected only to specific wars and not wars in general.

Revolt Brings Back Head of Pakistan

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP)

— President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan is flying to East Pakistan in an attempt to quiet a revolt by political leaders that threatens the country with civil war.

Announcing the president's plans, Radio Pakistan gave no date for the visit to the angry province 1,000 miles across India from West Pakistan and the capital at Rawalpindi.

East Pakistan's judges refused Monday to swear in an army general who Yahya Khan had appointed provincial governor, and a highly placed source said the government had ceased to function.

The source, a civil servant in the central government, said East Pakistan's highest ranking permanent officials—the government secretaries—have agreed to stay away from their offices unless the army forces them to return.

Sheik Mujibur Rahman of the Awami League, was reported forming a government of his own, assigning governmental responsibilities to various members of his own staff. The sheik spoke by telephone Monday with Brig. Gulam Zilani Khan, in charge of martial law affairs, but there was no indication what was said.

Yahya Khan proclaimed martial law in East Pakistan last week after protests against his postponement of the new National Assembly turned violent and scores were killed. On Saturday, Yahya Khan rescheduled the assembly for March 25 and named Lt. Gen. Tikka Khan governor and martial law administrator for the 70 million Bengalis of East Pakistan.

U.S. Buildings Are Rocked by Explosions

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Three explosions rocked two federal buildings in St. Louis Monday night, causing extensive damage to one. No one was seriously injured.

Fourteen policemen and firemen were examined at hospitals for concussion and ear damage and were released.

The first blast shattered glass doors at the entrance and a few windows in a one-story federal records center.

About three hours later, an explosion occurred at a two-story brick building being used as a temporary home of ROTC facilities for St. Louis and Washington universities.

Police Lt. Phil Pizzo said police and firemen had just finished inspecting minor damage caused by the explosion of the second floor area. Extensive damage was reported.

The two explosions in the ROTC facility, midway between the campuses of the two schools it served were about 20 minutes apart.

The FBI took over the investigation.

Air Force and Army ROTC buildings were damaged or destroyed by fires during disturbances at Washington University about a year ago. ROTC offices and classrooms for St. Louis and Washington have since moved into the off-campus building.

Officers Plead Innocent to Fraud Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sgt. Maj. William D. Woodridge and four other Army men pleaded innocent Monday to charges of conspiring to defraud noncommissioned officers clubs in Vietnam.

The other defendants are M. Sgt. William Higdon, Sgt. L.C. William Bagby, and two retired noncommissioned officers, Narvaez Hatcher and Theodore Bass.

Circle No. 1 Meets

Circle No. 1 of the First United Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. Albert Graves on Monday, March 8th at 2 p.m.

The leader, Mrs. Graves presided. The meeting was opened, with prayer by Mrs. Johnny Green. The roll was called and dues collected.

It was announced that Mrs. A. M. Hewitt is the new Program Chairman. She brought an article on prayer by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale which was very interesting.

One new member, Mrs. M. M. McCloughan was welcomed in the circle.

During the social hour delightful refreshments were served to the sixteen members present.

Miscellaneous Shower

A miscellaneous bridal shower was held on February 28 in Conway for Miss "Bitsy" Morris of Hope, bride-elect of Gary Thrasher, and Miss Sharon Qualls of Hot Springs, bride-elect of Pat Woodruff.

Red and white was the color scheme for the table, where punch and cookies were served. Guests included the mothers of the honorees, Mrs. Bill Morris of Hope and Mrs. J. O. Qualls of Hot Springs.

Many pretty and useful gifts were presented to Miss Morris and Miss Qualls. Hostesses were Misses Jean Warren, Beverly Couch, Cindy Olmstead and Cindy Woodard.

UDC Chapter Meets

The Pat Cleburne Chapter of the UDC had a luncheon meeting at Linnbert's on Thursday, March 4. In the afternoon the members went to the home of the president, Mrs. H. C. Whitworth, for a business meeting and program.

During the ritual, Mrs. Wilbur Jones led in the salutes to the flags. Mrs. J. W. Branch took her program, "Robert Edward Lee," from the Robert E. Lee Reader by Stanley F. Horn. The Sketch about the well-known General showed him not only as a military genius but also as a great and lovable man.

Camellias and japonica gave a touch of spring to the home, and light refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Coming, Going

The Billy Wray family of Euless, Tex., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wray and Linda.

Mrs. Gaston Fulmer, Little Rock, spent the weekend with her twin sister, Mrs. Guy Card, and other relatives.

The Joe Barentine family of Ashdown were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Allen and other relatives.

Sammy Strong, a freshman at Baylor Dental College in Dallas, flew home for the weekend and a visit with his sister, Mrs. Richard Woodson and son of Livermore, Calif. who also are visiting Dr. and Mrs. Sam Strong.

Group Pushing a People's Peace Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — A band of antiwar protesters is busily pushing a campaign to get a "People's Peace Treaty" on municipal election ballots across the country in a new attempt to end the Vietnam war.

"The governments have been so unresponsive that the people have to take the initiative themselves," said Frank Greer, 24-year-old campaign coordinator for the treaty's sponsor, the National Student Association. "We want this to be a grass roots thing."

The treaty calls for immediate withdrawal of all American troops from Vietnam, an immediate and total cease fire, plus negotiations to obtain the release of all American prisoners and guarantee the safety of all withdrawing troops.

Limited by an uncertain budget and only seven full-time workers, all based in New York and Washington, the treaty coordinators are contacting college campuses across the country to set up a network of volunteers.

"Then we want the students to take the treaty into their local communities," Greer said. "We hope to gather enough names in each area that the treaty can be put on local ballots for a referendum."

The National Student Association drive drew a challenge last week from Young Americans for Freedom, a conservative student organization, which announced that it will organize its own referendum on campuses and in communities.

YAF National Chairman Ron Docksai predicted that most students would reject the treaty if given a chance to vote on it. Greer, a 1970 graduate of the University of Maryland, said the idea for a "people's peace treaty" originated at an NSA meeting last August when it was decided that antiwar forces needed a new focal point for generating public support for the peace movement.

Fifteen students—nine student body presidents and six college editors—were chosen to negotiate with students from North and South Vietnam student unions. In December, the students went to Vietnam. Greer said only one, Doug Hostetter, a 26-year-old student at the New School for Social Research in New York, was granted a visa by South Vietnam. Hostetter, a Mennonite pacifist from Harrisburg, Pa., had served two years as an English teacher in Tam Ky, a South Vietnamese provincial capital.

getting guys got a thing going on this fella, so she asked me to call him and try to fix her up. I did, but instead of him getting interested in her (he's seen her around and says she isn't his type), he said my voice really sent him. So he got my phone number and started calling.

I knew my girl friend would be furious so I wouldn't let him come to see me. Then he called her and told her the score. Sure enough, she was wild; said I double-crossed her, and started bad rumors all over school.

Well, I figured if I was going to be blamed, I might as well enjoy it, so I made a date with my unknown admirer. It turned out "Jim" (we'll call him) is the greatest guy in the world—and he likes me too.

But my former friend is making it tough. To hear her, I am a sneaky man-stealer. And you know how kids love to believe gossip.

How do I lose this false reputation and still keep the fellow I love?—LAURA

Dear Laura:

It takes a while, but truth usually wins over false gossip. Tell a few key people (good talkers) the real facts, and let the word spread.

Meanwhile, don't let it get you down. After all, you won a great boy friend: You're still ahead of the game.—H.

Dear Helen: I'm 18, what older people would call the hippie type, but I've had it with that scene. I've tried dope, sex and the rest and I don't want any more!

I almost lost my mind thanks to a bad tab of LSD. Not counting all the times I almost drove my parents crazy because they knew I was on drugs. They are the kind who don't want others to know our problems so they wouldn't call for help. Maybe if they had, I wouldn't be writing this letter.

Everywhere I go I hear kids talking about love but I wonder if they think their sexploits are love? Ha! I oughta know. I started when I was 15, and learned my first lesson in love the hard way: I fell. He laughed. Since then I've just drifted from one dude to another, not really caring—just a physical thing.

And then I found out a month ago that when you meet someone who really cares, you feel you can't love in return because you're cheap and dirty. So you just walk away from the best thing you'll ever find.

That's what free sex and drugs do for you! I'm writing this so maybe it will help other girls who are tempted: Please don't. It only leads to heartache and lots of regrets. — WAY-OUT, NOW ON HER WAY BACK

Dear Way:

Don't walk away from a boy who really cares! He knows where you've been. He'll help you come back. Punishing yourself for things past can put you down again.

Forget the last three years and with his trust and strength, you can reach the highroad. (Natural High I mean.) — H.

Explorers Take Part in Road Rally

On Saturday, March 6, six members of Explorer Post 92 went to Texarkana with Scout Executive Tom Berry to participate in an Explorer Road Rally.

These participating were Jackie Harrington, Larry and Paul Patton, Alphonse and Hilda Roy and Guy Spencer. While all of the Cossatot District was invited to take part, Post 92 was the only one from Arkansas in the competition. A rally is a competitive, timed driving event covering a distance of about 125 miles.

The essence of winning is in the ability to follow instructions, drive at given speeds, and keep accurate time. The maximum speed at any given part of the rally was 60. Since none of the Hope Explorers had their own car, they worked on checkpoint crews.

A checkpoint crew is located at various intervals along the Rally route and their purpose is to time the cars as they come into the checkpoint. While the Hope Explorers did miss their trophy by one point they felt that they had learned much and enjoyed the fellowship of other Explorers from east Texas. They really had a time of good fellowship over a delicious banquet at the YMCA in Texarkana, following the Rally. All participants brought back a Rally Car Dash Plaque.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — NBC started its most ambitious "World Premiere" feature Monday night, a four-hour, two-part adaptation of Fletcher Knebel's suspense novel, "Vanished."

Judging from the first two hours of the filmed drama, it is a big, lavish and faithful reflection of the 1968 book which was long, had lots of plot and—unfortunately—was recent enough so that a lot of people remember the solution of the mystery.

The story centers in the White House, before and after President Paul Roudebush's best friend and adviser disappears from his golf club. Soon it is learned that the missing man had been meeting weekly in a rented apartment with a nuclear scientist who also disappeared.

Much of the story concentrates on the president's young press secretary who must handle the increasing news corps demands for information while the president refuses to share his knowledge of what is going on.

A lot of the program was filmed on location in Washington and captured some of the flavor of the city. It deals with real government agencies including the FBI and CIA.

Richard Widmark, as the president, and James Farentino as the press secretary, have the heaviest roles, but there is an enormous cast with many prominent names. Among them are Arthur Hill as the missing adviser and Eleanor Parker as his wife. Robert Young, in silver wig and mustache, is a senator with presidential ambitions.

It's an interesting show. The second segment will be broadcast tonight.

With domestic television and radio frozen from on-the-spot, blow-by-blow coverage of the Joe Frazier-Muhammad Ali heavyweight fight, most broadcasters handled the event while it was in progress by using the running report by the news services.

CBS-Radio, for instance, used The Associated Press round-by-round account as fast as it was received. Seconds after Frazier was declared the winner, radio had it on the air. A few minutes later, television stations broke into programs in progress with bulletins.

There were some negotiations by networks for rights to show tape of the fight at a later date. ABC, for one, turned down any deal because the price demanded—reportedly around $500,000—was too high.

UCLA Holds Onto First by Eyelash

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
UCLA held on today by an eyelash as the nation's No. 1-ranked college basketball team.

Only two points separated the top-rated Bruins, who had 608, and Marquette, with 606. Last week, UCLA topped Marquette 692-676 in the Associated Press poll.

A nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters dealt UCLA 19 first-place votes and Marquette, 13, after the two top clubs swept opponents last week.

UCLA beat Washington 71-69, California 103-69 and Stanford 107-72 to bring its record to 24-1. Marquette stopped Creighton 66-61, Bowling Green 96-74 and Xavier of Ohio 70-58 to finish its regular season with a 26-0 mark.

The rest of the Top Ten remained almost the same as last week. Penn moved up from fifth to fourth and Kansas dropped one place to fifth in the only change.

Southern California remained a distant third with 510 points. Penn had 448 and Kansas, which got the only other first-place vote, had 410 points.

Rounding out the Top Ten are No. 6 South Carolina, 323 points; No. 7 Western Kentucky 275; No. 8 Kentucky, 264; No. 9 Jacksonville, 240 and Nov. 10 Fordham, 224.

Duquesne topped the second ten with 151 points, followed by No. 12 Ohio State, with 97, No. 13 North Carolina, 79, No. 14 Notre Dame, 45, and No. 15 Tennessee, 33.

The rest of the blue ribbon group included, 16th-ranked Utah State; No. 18 Houston; and newcomers, No. 19 Duke and No. 20 Miami of Ohio.

Duke and Miami replaced Top Twenty dropouts Indiana, and LaSalle, tied for No. 18 last week.

Utah State made the biggest jump, moving up four spots from No. 20 and Houston had the longest drop, falling three places from No. 15.

The Top Twenty teams, with first place votes in parentheses, and total points on a 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. UCLA (19)	608
2. Marquette (13)	606
3. Southern Cal	510
4. Penn	448
5. Kansas (1)	410
6. South Carolina	323
7. Western Ky.	275
8. Kentucky	264
9. Jacksonville	240
10. Fordham	224
11. Duquesne	151
12. Ohio State	97
13. North Carolina	79
14. Notre Dame	45
15. Tennessee	33
16. Utah State	32
17. Long Beach St.	29
18. Houston	26
19. Duke	15
20. Miami, Ohio	12

Hawaii Joins Field in NIT Tourney

NEW YORK (AP) — Hawaii, Georgia Tech, LaSalle, Syracuse and St. John's of New York have joined the action, bringing the National Invitation Tournament field to 10 basketball teams thus far.

Six more openings are available for the post-season tournament, which runs March 20-27 at Madison Square Garden.

Previously named to the field are Providence, Dayton, Massachusetts, Tennessee and St. Bonaventure.

Ali Is Very Uncomfortable All Over

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — His once-pretty jaw was painfully swollen and his latest prediction was knocked for a speechless loop by Joe Frazier Monday night, but it was hard to tell which caused Muhammad Ali more discomfort.

It was, to say the least, a bad night for the previously unbeaten former heavyweight champion. His forecast that "Frazier falls in six" went by the boards, he took a smashing left hook on the right side of his jaw late in the 11th round that buckled his knees and he wound up flat on his back early in the 15th round from another crushing hook to the same spot.

Finally, he lost the decision in a fight he had predicted would be rivaled as a spectacle only by the first moonwalk and then he had to rush off to a hospital for X rays, leaving dozens of newsmen to settle for a few words from Drew "Bundini" Brown, one of his handlers.

The X rays proved negative and Ali, his jaw shut for a change with a massive bruise but not broken, returned to his hotel, took some medication and went to bed, his dreams of a quick return to boxing's pinnacle after a three-year layoff ruined.

But Ali, even in absentia, wasn't through predicting.

"We'll be back," promised Brown. "Three years ain't gonna be three years no more. The car's been in the garage for three years but all the bumps and clinks are out now."

He referred to Ali's lengthy absence from the ring while his appeal of a five-year jail sentence for refusing induction into the armed forces was argued in the courts.

"The first thing I asked him was, 'We ain't through, are we?'" Brown told reporters. "He said, 'Get 'em ready;

Frazier Decisions Ali in 15, Promoters Are Already Talking Replay

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Frazier, the "Black Marciano," is the undisputed heavyweight boxing champion but Muhammad Ali—his runaway tongue silenced by a battered jaw—is still on his feet, and hungry promoters already are planning a bigger and more grandiose repeat.

Chartwell Enterprises, Inc., which served as architect of Monday night's $20 million to $30 million spectacular, owns the return match contracts of both fighters. The probable site is the Los Angeles Forum and the time early next year.

"I don't think he wants a rematch—not right away, anyway," said Frazier, winner by decision in a brawling 15-round at Madison Square Garden in boxing's richest and most ballyhooed extravaganza.

He didn't ask Ali, the loud-mouthed idol of millions who went to the canvas under a thunderclap Frazier left hook in the 15th round but regained his feet and hung on to avoid the stigma of a knockout.

Immediately after the fight, the previously unbeaten and unmarked Ali, his right jaw swollen like a balloon, was rushed to a hospital where X-rays showed he was suffering not from a fracture but from a blood clot and a massive bruise.

Ironically, Ali for once in his lifetime could not talk and he sent his long-time trainer, Drew "Bundini" Brown, to the interview room to face the writers whom he had constantly chided.

The 20,455 wild, screaming fans, who paid $1,352,961 to watch the fight of unbeaten heavyweights and the 300 million others who reportedly watched it on television around the world must have their doubts that Ali can ever rise again.

The arrogant, garrulous grandson of a runaway Kentucky slave proved his heart and staying power in a gripping struggle but raised doubts that his once nimble legs could any more "float like a butterfly," a tactic for which he became universally famous.

Ali, showing only flashes of his old brilliance, tired visibly in the course of the bout and there were times it seemed his rubbery legs, of not his hard brown body, might wilt under Frazier's incessant pounding.

A tremendous, dramatic fight that will be remembered as long as men pull on pillowed gloves, the highly promoted contest had its disappointing aspects on both sides.

The Superman image of Ali, born Cassius Clay, was shattered, undoubtedly bringing grief to his millions of admirers all around the world. They had thought he was unbeatable.

As for Frazier, a grim, 27-year-old onetime slaughterhouse butcher, he failed to prove to be the killer in the tradition of Jack Dempsey, Joe Louis and Rocky Marciano, the latter the late slugger who retired unbeaten and whose bore-in style is duplicated by Frazier.

Several times Frazier appeared to have Ali set up for the knockout—in the 11th round particularly and again in the 15th—only to let his quarry get away.

Is Frazier really a Dark Destroyer, or just a Black Buzz-Saw?

"I hit him with my best shots, and he took them," Frazier said afterward. "That man takes some punch."

Frazier, never floored, had bruises over both his eyes and on his right cheek. He bled at the nose. He looked more butchered than Ali, despite Ali's enlarged cheek, and even apologized for his hamburger countenance.

"Let me go clean up my face," he told newsmen. "I'm not this ugly."

The rugged Frazier, fighting from a crouch and always moving forward, disdained Ali's greater height—6 feet, 3 inches to 5-11½—and a 6½-inch longer reach.

Frazier stole some of Ali's thunder. In the fifth round, he laughed at Ali through bloody teeth. He dropped his arms to his side, dared Ali to hit him and taunted his foe as he laced out with lunging lefts.

Frazier's principal weapon was his lightning-like left hook, almost too fast to see and damaging enough to snap Ali's proud head back so hard it looked as it might break at the neck.

Ali, always the clown, teased Frazier frequently when he was backed against the ropes. He pawed at Frazier with his gloves, like a child fondling a toy.

Frazier rested the display and asked afterward, what he thought of Ali's antics, barked crisply:

"Clowning? He wasn't clown-

Frazier Always Felt Like Champ

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — His face puffy and misshapen from a shower of punches thrown by Muhammad Ali, Joe Frazier nevertheless ruled today as undisputed heavyweight champion of the world. And he didn't exactly hide the fact.

"Who's the champ ... who's the champ," stormed Frazier, who looked more like the loser than the winner after scoring a unanimous 15-round decision over Ali Monday night.

"I felt like the champion right along," said Frazier, whose victory was punctuated by a booming left hook that decked Ali in the 15th round and left the ex-champ's jaw painfully swollen.

"I fought everybody they put in front of me and I whipped them all," said Frazier, "and that includes Clay."

Frazier seemed to delight in calling Ali by his former name, Clay. In fact he repeated it three times at one point, each time saying "Clay" louder, as if for emphasis.

"You think he was clowning?" asked Frazier. "I don't. I'll tell you, those shots add up. They slowed him down. He couldn't get off those ropes."

"Let me go straighten my face up," Frazier said, excusing himself from a post-fight press conference, "I ain't this ugly."

Frazier paid Ali a compliment, acknowledging that the ex-champ had taken some of his hardest shots. "That man takes some punch," said Frazier. "I hit him some shots, and he took the best of them."

Frazier's most devastating punch was the 15th-round left hook that dropped Ali on his back.

"I reached back for that one," said Frazier. "That one came from the country."

Frazier said he thought that Ali had underestimated him.

"He thought I was slow and he thought I was flatfooted," the champion said. "I think I surprised him. I think he found out different."

Referee Art Mercante frequently warned both fighters to stop their constant chatter in the early rounds.

"Oh it was a lot of ghetto talk," said Frazier. "He was saying he was gonna kill me and that. I just said, 'I'll do the same to you.'"

There was no post-bout confrontation between the fighters simply because Ali never showed up for it. He went directly to Flower Fifth Avenue Hospital for X rays of his jaw.

Yancey Durham, Frazier's manager, said he couldn't tell how badly Ali was hurt.

"I ain't no doctor and neither is Joe," said Durham. "If he can still talk, his jaw ain't broken."

X-rays confirmed that Ali's jaw was not fractured but that he had suffered a blood clot and massive bruises from Frazier's punch.

"He said he would crawl ing. He was too tired to move."

Ali, wearing red velvet trunks and tasseled white-and-red shoes, frequently shook off Frazier's hardest jolts and waved consolation to his body of admirers.

Many observers at rightside had Ali ahead or at least even but the decision was unanimous. Judge Artie Aidala had it 9-6, judge Bill Recht had it 8-6-1 and referee Art Mercante had it 11-4, all favoring Frazier.

The Associated Press scorecard had it 9-5-1 for Frazier.

Ali held his own in the early rounds. The middle rounds—the eighth through the 13th—were all Frazier. After being shaken in the 11th and falling to one knee on a slip, Ali appeared definitely beaten.

His legs wobbled. His eyes were glazed. His once sharp punches were flabby and ineffective.

But he came back to win the 14th, while the crowd yelled.

In the first 20 seconds of the final round Frazier cut loose a murderous hook—"I brought from the country," he said—and Ali hit the deck on his back like a concrete block. He was up at four, took the mandatory eight count and then hung on—only nerve keeping him erect.

"Then it was over. Frazier's hand was raised.

And Bundini cried.

Pirates Are Flattening All Comers

By TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer

The 1-2 punch of Dave Cash and Richie Hebner battered the Detroit Tigers as the Pittsburgh Pirates continue to flatten all comers after four days of spring training exhibition games.

Hebner slammed a pair of home runs, each after Cash had singled, opening up a 4-0 Pittsburgh lead after four innings and the Pirates coasted to their fourth straight victory of the spring Monday, 9-3 over the Tigers.

The pair of homers by Hebner, who also added a single, gave Pittsburgh nine in its last three games. Starter Jim Nelson, who held the Tigers hitless over the first three innings, was the winner.

In other games, Washington edged Baltimore 4-3, the New York Mets topped Philadelphia 3-1, the Chicago White Sox belted Minnesota 6-2, Houston ripped Montreal 2-1, St. Louis blasted Kansas City 11-7, the New York Yankees held off Atlanta 2-1 Boston squeezed past Cincinnati 3-2, the Chicago Cubs rapped Cleveland 6-3, Milwaukee nudged California 4-3, San Diego whipped Oakland 8-6, and San Francisco tripped the Tokyo Orions 7-5.

Washington third baseman Jim Mason committed four errors, letting in two Baltimore runs in the fifth inning, but came back with a 13th inning homer that enabled the Senators to edge the world champions.

Art Shamsky's two-run homer provided the edge in the New York Mets' triumph while Carlos May socked a three-run blast in the White Sox' triumph.

Homers were also decisive in Houston's triumph when John Mayberry snapped a 1-1 tie with a solo shot for the Astros and St. Louis got a three-run homer off the bat of Joe Hague.

Lou Brock added a two-run triple in the Cards' winning effort.

The Yankees got an RBI single from Bobby Murcer and a run-scoring single by Danny Cat in the first inning to hold off Atlanta while Don Pavletich rapped an eighth-inning scari-fic fly, giving the Red Sox the edge over the National League champion Reds.

Ken Henderson's three-run double in the sixth inning helped San Francisco beat Tokyo. Juan Marichal pitched the first three frames for the Giants and gave up three runs including a two-run triple by Michio Arito.

Don Kessinger's triple and Ron Santo's two-run single capped a three-run fourth inning for the Cubs and helped overcome a solo homer by the Indians' Ken Harrelson.

Dave Robinson and Dave Campbell each slugged home runs for San Diego while Dick Green had one for the A's and Roberto Pena's ninth-inning single snapped a 3-3 tie and gave the Brewers their victory.

Frazier said his future plans were unsettled. There had been talk that he would retire following the Ali fight.

"We haven't talked over the future yet," he said. "Give me a chance. I just finished this fight. I gotta get away and talk it over with Yank (Durham). Man, I gotta live a little. I've been working for 10 long years."

Asked about a possible rematch, Frazier grinned.

"I don't think he wants a rematch," the unbeaten champion said, "not right now anyway."

St. Louis Cardinals

National League—East

PROSPECTUS: Cardinals did considerable juggling in off season trades and hardly resemble the Cardinals of the late 1960s any more. There is obvious shortage of pitching talent—after Bob Gibson—and Red Schoendienst could use another power hitter to go along with Joe Torre Overall, Cards will have more speed, less power and Gibson every fourth day.

PITCHING—Gibson pitched some of the best baseball of his career last year. He finished 23-6, and was voted best starting pitcher in the game by his peers. He will be going into his 12th season. Only one other pitcher won 10 games for the Cards—Steve Carlton, but he also lost 19. Nelson Briles is at Pittsburgh, and last two starting spots may go to Mike Torrez and Jerry Reuss. Rating C

CATCHING—Ted Simmons showed promise in 82 games last season, hitting .243. Torre will spell him when he needs rest. Rating C

INFIELD—Joe Hague will replace departed Richie Allen, now a Los Angeles Dodger. Hague, in 139 games last year, hit .271 with 14 homers. Ted Sizemore, acquired from Dodgers in Allen trade, may play either second or shortstop before season ends, probably both. The incumbents are Julian Javier (last second) and Dal Maxvill (short). Torre will start out at third, but will catch, play first and the outfield, too. He hit .325 with 21 homers and 100 RBIs last season. Rating B

OUTFIELD—Lou Brock only holdover sure of starting job. He hit .304 with 13 homers and 51 stolen bases last year. Matty Alou, from Pirates, will take over in center, and left field is tossup among youngsters Jose Cruz and Luis Melendez, and vet Jose Cardenal. Rating B

Coach Calls It Pride, Not Luck

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some people call it luck, but Coach Ted Owens says its pride that has pulled his Kansas basketball team through two consecutive overtime victories to remain unbeaten in the Big Eight.

The fourth-ranked Jayhawks came from behind again Monday night and nipped Missouri 71-69 in an extra session at Columbia with Aubrey Nash carrying the scoring load and Dave Robisch hitting the final three free throws for the victory margin.

Kansas, the league champion at 13-0, finishes against Nebraska, 8-5, at Lawrence Saturday night.

Oklahoma defeated Oklahoma State 80-74 at Stillwater and Colorado, with Cliff Meely breaking the Big Eight scoring record, beat Iowa State 77-73 at Ames to close their seasons.

Oklahoma and Missouri tied for second place at 9-5, and will be joined by Nebraska if the Huskers beat Kansas. Each is hoping for the bid to the National Invitational Tournament that usually goes to the Big Eight's runnerup.

Colorado, 5-8, and Oklahoma State, 2-11, finish Thursday night at Boulder. Iowa State is through at 2-12.

Owens said he was impressed by the way the Jayhawks refused to be ruffled by the deafening screams of the 6,000 Missouri fans packed into old Brewer field house. The Tigers sensed an upset and a sure trip to the NIT, and they especially bore down on Robisch with their vocal pressure.

Meely hit 27 points and shattered two league records. He raised the one-season record to 383 points and the career mark to 1,896. The old records were 377 by Salt Wesley and 1,888 by Clyde Lovellette, both of Kansas.

Oklahoma tied a Gallagher Hall record by sinking 61 per cent of its field shots. The Sooners broke a 39-39 tie with 12 straight points and Oklahoma State couldn't recover.

Scott Martin of OU and Jerry Clack of OSU each had 20 points.

Henry Smith was high for Missouri with 24 points. Nash led Kansas with 16 and Robisch added 15.

In New York, the National Invitation Tournament added five more teams to its field—Hawaii, Syracuse, Georgia Tech, LaSalle and St. John's of New York. They join St. Bonaventure, Dayton, Tennessee, Massachusetts and Providence, leaving six openings in the 16-team field.

The 34th NAIT Tourney got under way in Kansas City with all the favorites or seeded teams winning the eight first-round games. Kentucky State, defending champion and top-seeded, whipped St. Thomas, Minn., 100-65.

In other games, Earlham, Ind., beat Lewis & Clark, Ore., 105-83; Elizabeth City defeated Western New England 90-76; Indiana, Pa., downed Eastern New Mexico 81-72 and Glassboro, N.J., topped East Central, Okla., 71-60.

Also Stephen F. Austin turned back North Carolina-Asheville 91-73; Whittier upended Sacred Heart, Kan., 69-59 and Eau Claire ousted Southern, Ark., 66-50.

turn $4.60.

Mr. Spirit led by two lengths rounding the first turn and widened that lead to four lengths entering the stretch.

As the field headed for the wire, Legal Advise started moving up and almost caught Mr. Spirit about halfway down the stretch, however.

Jockey Danny Whitened rode both ends of the daily double for the second time this year. Hannah's Jr. in the first and Nasty McNarf in the second, numbers 2 and 6, paid $25.

Two other jockeys rode winning doubles. Steve Richie was aboard Bright Decision in the fifth and Windy Maker in the ninth. Joe Ebhardt scored on Dawn Comet in the third and Brilliant Dunce in the sixth.

The crowd of 9,528 wagered $787,855.

P. F. Mayboy heads a field of eight three-year-olds and upward in today's $5,500 featured allowance purse at one mile and 70 yards.

Others in the field are Mr. Jun (123), Saigon Warrior (109), Hoo Chi Nuo (118), Wharf (108), Great Line (118), Nueces

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Julius Erving of Massachusetts and Bob Kissane of Holy Cross are repeaters on the District One All-Star basketball team selected by the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Jim O'Brien of Boston College, Ernie Degregorio of Providence and Paul Eriand of Dartmouth join them on the first team announced today by Yale Coach Joe Vancisin, fourth vice president of the coaches' association.

SEATTLE (AP) — The University of Washington has River (108) and Laughing Dancer (105).

Subiaco in Victory in Class AA Play

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jack Shulte hit five of six free throws in the final minute and 45 seconds to boost Subiaco to a 59-56 victory over Stuttgart Monday in first-round action of the Class AA senior boys state basketball tournament.

Shulte was the leading scorer with 29 points and Rufus Washington added 13 for Subiaco. Keith Thomas paced Stuttgart with 17 points.

In other Class AA action, Russellville whipped Monticello 60-47 and Valley Springs nipped Wynne 58-54.

Wynne led Valley Springs at halftime 33-31, but Valley Springs rallied in the third quarter to take a 44-38 lead. Doy Scribner hit four free throws in the last 53 seconds to insure the Valley Springs victory.

Scribner led Valley Springs with 25 points. Sammy Pettis netted 19 for Wynne.

Russellville jumped to a 25-19 halftime lead and coasted on to victory over Monticello. Russellville led by 20 points at one time during the third quarter, but the first team was pulled and Monticello began closing the gap.

Nelson Ennis scored 22 points to lead the Cyclones and Larry Cope paced Monticello with 15.

Cards Going for Base Hits, Not Homers

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals will lower their sights from the far-off fences of Busch Stadium this year and rely on basic baseball to lift them back into contention in the tough National League East.

The Cardinals, who traded for Richie Allen's muscle before the 1970 season, promptly unloaded the controversial slugger following another fourth place finish—as the start of a second major shakeup in as many years.

In 1971 the accent will be on bat contact, speed, defense and, hopefully, more pitching help for brilliant Bob Gibson. The Cardinals, in effect, are prepared to nibble their way back to the top instead of trying to get there in big bites.

Last October, they dealt Allen to Los Angeles for infielder Ted Sizemore, the NL's 1969 Rookie of the Year, and catcher Bob Stinson. Four months and six trades later, they acquired center fielder Matty Alou from Pittsburgh in exchange for pitcher Nelson Briles and reserve outfielder Vic Davalillo.

Allen accounted for 34 of St. Louis' 113 home runs last season. Sizemore and Alou hit one apiece for the Dodgers and Pirates. But the two newcomers are high-average hitters who fit the new design envisioned by General Manager Bing Devine and field pilot Red Schoendienst.

Gibson, at 35, was once again the premier pitcher in the league last season, posting a 23-6 record, striking out 274 batters and capturing the Cy Young Award for the second time.

But left-hander Steve Carlton lost 19 of 29 decisions while young Mike Torrez and Jerry Reuss, the third and fourth starters most of the year, were 8-10 and 7-8, respectively.

Offensively the Cards will start third baseman Joe Torre, who ripped 203 hits, 21 homers, 100 RBI and had a .325 average. Left fielder Lou Brock batted .304, with 202 hits, 13 homers and 51 stolen bases. Alou, .297 for the Pirates, stroked 201 hits.

With Mike Shannon lost for the season because of a kidney ailment, the versatile Torre will work fulltime at third base. Sizemore, .306 for Los Angeles, likely will start at shortstop, Julian Javier, .251, at second and Joe Hague, .271, 14 homers, at first.

Jose Cardinal, who batted .293 shifts from center field to right to make room for Alou scheduled an 11th football game next season with the University of California at Santa Barbara Sept. 11. UW Athletic Director Joe Kearney announced Monday. The game, at Seattle, will be the season opener for both teams.

Monday's Fights
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK—Joe Frazier, 205 1/2, Philadelphia, outpointed Muhammad Ali, 215, Louisville, 15; Frazier retained world heavyweight championship.

TOKYO—Kenji Iwata, 131 1/2, Japan, outpointed Choi Moonkil, 131, South Korea, 10.

Pair Making Milwaukee Famous

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Low Alcindor and Oscar Robertson: the pair that's making Milwaukee famous.

With the Big A and the Big O in command, machine-like Milwaukee stopped Seattle 104-99 Monday night and ran its record National Basketball Association victory string to 20.

Alcindor scored 32 points and Robertson, 24 as the Bucks pulled away in the second half after trailing 53-48 at intermission.

In the night's only other NBA game, Buffalo defeated Portland 114-98. Indiana topped Carolina 118-105 in the only American Basketball Association action.

Down by five points at the half, the Bucks converted a technical foul called against Seattle's Don Smith after the buzzer ending the second period, then surged into an 11-point lead, 71-60 after the intermission.

Spencer Haywood had 30 points and Don Smith 28 for the SuperSonics.

Don May scored 31 points to pace the Buffalo romp, throwing in 10 of his game-high total as the Braves pulled away in the second quarter. Geoff Petrie led Portland with 20.

Mel Daniels, bothered by the flu, played only 35 minutes but scored 29 points and had 21 rebounds for Indiana. Freddie Lewis added 24 and 20 points, respectively, as the Pacers broke open the game in the second half after trailing 50-48 at halftime.

Stamps is eighth, Russellville moved into the top ten at the No. 9 spot and Tuckerman dropped to 10th.

Hot Springs Wins in AAA State Play

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Hot Springs Trojans defeated Marianna Lee 89-69 Monday and set a Class AAA record for the most points scored during a state tournament.

James Washington scored 18 points in the first half to lead the Trojans to a 40-30 lead at intermission. Hot Springs had a 32-point fourth quarter and coasted to victory.

Washington led all scorers with 34 points and James White added 21 for the Trojans. Dennis Winston had 19 points to lead Lee.

In other Class AAA first round action, Jonesboro rolled over Texarkana 80-65 and Little Rock Parkview clipped Jacksonville 70-64.

Jonesboro trailed by four points at the half, but Mike Holman and Nathan Van Pelt sparked a third-quarter rally that drove Jonesboro ahead 61-51 going into the fourth quarter.

Fort Smith Regains Top Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fort Smith Northside regained its hold on the top spot in The Associated Press high school basketball poll this week.

The Grizzlies replaced Little Rock Horace Mann. Mann was handed a 79-74 defeat by Little Rock Central last week. Northside edged Central later in the week 48-45.

Hot Springs remained in the No. 2 spot, followed by Mann. Harrison moved up to the fourth spot, followed by Blytheville, Stephens and County Line.

Stamps is eighth, Russellville moved into the top ten at the No. 9 spot and Tuckerman dropped to 10th.

Harold Lloyd, Silent Star, Dies at 77

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Harold Lloyd, who made up to $60,000 a week in silent movie comedies as an accident-prone youth peering anxiously through horn-rimmed spectacles, is dead at 77.
Ill for many months, he succumbed to cancer Monday at his 22-room mansion in Beverly Hills.

Lloyd ranked himself as one of the six best movie comedians of the Golden Age of Comedy—the 1920s—along with Charlie Chaplin, Buster Keaton, Harry Langdon, and Laurel and Hardy. Only Chaplin is alive today.

Always he played a kind of comic all-American boy who pluckily survived incredible scrapes.

Have the Blahs About Food?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I wonder if you could help me with my problem. I've always enjoyed eating but lately nothing seems to have any taste any more. All my food is blah! My doctor said some people lose their ability to taste and it was just part of growing old. Isn't there something that can be done to help folks like me besides just telling us we are getting old?

Dear Reader—Yes, there is, but it is so new that it probably wasn't announced when you saw your doctor. A lot of people have written to me about this problem, so you are not alone. The Medical World News recently reported some progress has been made on this. According to the report, Dr. Robert I. Henkin, head of the National Heart and Lung Institute's neuroendocrinology section, has found a way to cure this difficulty in some people.

Henkin has found that the ability to taste is often linked with the proper amount of certain metal ions, like zinc, nickel and copper. He believes a lot of people first lose their ability to taste after the "flu" and never regain it and if these people were given a little zinc by mouth, they would be able to taste again.

Certain medicine seems to decrease the ability to taste, too. There is a lot yet to be learned but enough is known now to help thousands of people taste again.

It appears that the ability to taste has been sadly neglected and Henkin may be the only physician who has studied this problem carefully in man. His studies suggest that the roof of the mouth is the best area for tasting sour and bitter foods while the tongue is best for salty or sweet tastes.

In addition to metal ions some of the hormones from the small adrenal gland over the kidney seem to play a role in taste. In fact, a number of diseases affect taste.

What can you do to get help for your taster? Medical World News states the National Institute of Health will provide a kit free to any doctor who wants to use Henkin's methods. All your doctor need do is write to Henkin requesting it. When he gets the kit he can map

I suspect smoking decreases tasting ability, too. Many patients have told me they could taste much better after quitting.

Girl Scout Leaders of Area Meet

Scout leaders of the Hope area met at the Little House in Fair Park to plan activities for Girl Scout Week. The event officially started Sunday and will continue throughout this week. Girls attending church yesterday at the Unity Baptist Church.

Different themes will be carried out for each day of the week. The climax of the week will be Fun Day which will be held at Fair Park on Saturday. Cadette Troop 75 will present the outdoor Flag Ceremony.

also is pending in the House. In other legislative action Monday:

The Senate apparently killed a bill to levy $1 in additional court costs to provide a fulltime University of Arkansas Law School at Little Rock.

The House approved the compromise bill that determines how state school aid is to be distributed to the school districts in the next biennium.

The cigarette tax bill, increasing the tax to 17 1/2 cents per package for an additional revenue yield of $10 million a year, was brought up for a vote by the sponsors with the knowledge that it might be lacking the strength to pass.

Rep. N. B. "Nap" Murphy of Hamburg, a sponsor, said after huddling with administration aides before the vote that he wanted to call up the bill for consideration to get a reading on House sentiment.

Before defeating the bill, the House rejected an amendment by Rep. Walter Day of Blytheville that would have exempted from the tax increase the sales of cigarettes with 10 miles of the state's borders, if the adjoining state's tax was lower than the current Arkansas tax. The amendment failed 47-38, with 51 votes needed for passage.

Day said the amendment would help discourage Arkansas residents living near the state line from buying their cigarettes at lower prices in adjoining states. He said the state would lose revenue if the tax is raised because of out-of-state purchases and bootlegging of cigarettes into Arkansas.

During debate on the bill, Rep. Boyce Alford of Pine Bluff charged that the state automobile dealers association had made a "deal" with Bumpers to support the measure if the governor withdrew from consideration the administration proposal to subject the sale of second-hand goods, such as cars, to the sales tax. Murphy, a car dealer, denied that such a deal had been made.

Bumpers abandoned the proposed tax on used property sales when he introduced the cigarette tax bill as part of a revision of his tax package. The governor renovated his revenue program after making concessions in his income tax bill, which has passed.

It was reported by legislative sources Monday that Bumpers may be willing to withdraw his bill to reduce the sales tax discount received by merchants in exchange for support for the cigarette tax bill.

The discount bill, lowering from 2 to 1 per cent the discount merchants receive for collecting the sales tax for the state, has passed both houses, but is pending on reconsideration in the House. The House also has attached an amendment opposed by Bumpers that would give merchants a tax reduction for bad debts.

The bill that would provide financial aid for the University of Arkansas Law School fell one vote short of passage, 17-16, in the Senate. This was the same fate suffered earlier in the Senate by an almost identical proposal.

It apparently had enough sympathizers to pass, but did not get their votes. One senator thought to be in favor of the new bill, Sen. Nick Wilson of Pocahontas, was out of the chamber when the roll was called. Another legislator, Sen. George Locke of Hamburg, announced to the Senate that he thought the measure was a good bill, but that he would not vote for it because of a commitment he had made to Sen. Morris Henry of Fayetteville, an opponent of the proposal.

"This may take the hide off my back, but I'm going to keep my word and vote against the bill, but I wanted you to know I think it's a good bill," Locke told the Senate.

Northwest Arkansas legislators oppose the measure, which they see as a move toward eventual transfer of the U of A Law School from Fayetteville to Little Rock, where a university night law school already exists.

Pine Bluff, sponsor of the new bill, told the Senate that the proposal would have aided the Fayetteville school as well, since it proposed the construction of a wing of the Fayetteville school.

The House voted 82-11 to approve the school aid distribution formula bill. The proposal would freeze the amount of minimum foundation aid at the current level. The $12-13 million in additional funds that Bumpers proposes for public school education would be divided 75 per cent for teacher salaries and 25 per cent for operations.

The additional funds would be distributed on the basis of an equalization formula that would provide that no school district would receive for teacher raises more than 2 1/2 times per teacher than the district receiving the smallest amount of aid for teacher raises. The funds would be distributed on an inverse basis — the poorer districts would get more money.

Operation funds would be distributed on a 3 to 1 ratio.

The bill is similar to a Senate-passed measure except that it contains an amendment that would give more aid to school districts that experience a sudden surge in enrollment.

The House approved 59-20 a bill by Sen. W. D. Moore Jr. of El Dorado that would appropriate $340,000 annually to fund companion legislation, already passed by the General Assembly, giving workmen's compensation coverage to school employees.

The House rejected for the second time a resolution that would designate a waltz written by Bill Urfer of Heber Springs as the official state waltz. The resolution, passed earlier by the Senate, was defeated on a voice vote.

Earlier in this session, the Senate had approved a resolution designating another version of Urfer's waltz as the state waltz, but the House refused to go along with that measure, too.

Some representatives complained that the first waltz cast Arkansas in a negative light. Pending in the House is a resolution designating a waltz written by Luke Jeter of Washington County as the state waltz.

The House refused to agree to two Senate amendments to the bill exempting from Welfare Department regulatory authority child care facilities with few than six children that do not receive federal or state aid.

One amendment would have exempted church-operated facilities. The other would have provided that the department's authority over child care facilities would be null and void if the department violated the Administrative Procedures Act.

In other actions Monday, the Senate approved and sent to the House bills to:

— Establish Federal Housing Authority standards for the installation of septic tanks. Sen. Gene Rainwater of Fort Smith, sponsor of the bill, said a recent Health Department regulation, which would be superceded under provisions of the bill, had halted septic tank installations because it contained unreasonable requirements, including a 10-foot core sample when septic tank drainage is established on a depth of only two feet.

and set standards for local governments.

We have all been aroused by industrial and commercial polluters for they are the most logical targets. But what about the individual polluters—you and me? We are all polluters in that we have mountains of trash coming from our own homes. This is the problem our legislation will work to solve.

Before Rep. Spairs and I agreed to sponsor the bill we met with commission administrators and they assured us that they would move cautiously and reasonably in a manner which would avoid an undue burden on our city administration.

These bills set up the mechanism for some long-term, effective planning in the area of pollution control through proper waste disposal.

Though far from satisfied with Arkansas' achievements in protecting our delicate and previous environment, I am proud—in your behalf—to have had a part in such an important legislative action.

We are all proud that the bills passed 79-0.

In the campaign last summer I made the following pledge: I truly believe that if we do not win the war against pollution then we certainly imperil the very survival of our children and their children. Toward this end I will continue to work in your best interests.

The "Public Protector"

Three years ago, while serving as University of Arkansas Student President, we were fortunate to establish the first office of public protector in the state.

Two years ago my colleague Rep. Cal Ledbetter of Little Rock introduced the "Ombudsman bill" in the House. Like most legislation during the session two years ago it was doomed to failure.

This year Rep. Ledbetter and I joined forces in hopes of passing legislation which would establish such an office.

This plan was conceived in Sweden (where Ombudsman means public protector; and was recently adopted by the state of Hawaii).

The purpose of the office is to receive complaints from private citizens about governmental actions, investigate the complaints and make recommendations for correcting the abuse—if the complaint is valid.

We are pleased to report that the bill, following consideration by committee, was given a "do-pass." While this does not readily assure passage it would never have been given due consideration without the do-pass recommendation.

The office of public protector would be independent of other state agencies. His appointment would be by committee composed of the Governor, the President Protempore of the Senate, The House Speaker, the Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court and the president of the Arkansas Bar Association. The appointment to a 4-year term would be subject to confirmation by both the Senate and the House.

Under our bill the public protector would be empowered to investigate, on complaint or on his own motion, any administrative act of any agency.

I feel there are many justifications for such an office. Because we are increasingly an urban society the traditional areas most sensitive to public need have—as has society—grown gradually weaker. A citizen should be able to contact any public official on a city, county or state level in regard to a complaint or an injustice. Because of the Constitutional separation of authorities in government, one lone legislator has little power to protect the public beyond asking a political favor of the person in authority.

The public protector would cut through this bureaucratic red tape and serve as a responsive, powerful voice in the best interests of the people. We have seen the Federal Government grow more and more insensitive to the very public which supports it. The day that government quits serving the people is the day that democracy begins to fail.

As in any "new idea" there are flaws, but certainly none which cannot be corrected through the Democratic process. I believe that knowing there is a man to turn to for help in state government will only serve to make the people of Arkansas care about their government. And this mutual caring is what has made America work for 200 years.

If you agree with me on this I would appreciate your support by writing me at the House so that your letters can be shown to my colleagues.

Again, thank you for your support and encouragement.
